TOWN COUNCIL.

A delegation from the Didsbury and District Board of Trade, including Messrs. F. W. Dunlop, N. S. Clarke, E. A. Ford and H. D. Halliday, interviewed the Council on Monday evening and asked that the town council co-operate with the municipalities in the betterment of roads leading into town. They asked that a letter of appreciation be sent to the Westerdale Council for the graveling of 12 miles of market road to the west. They also suggested that the municipality be urged to build improved feeder roads to the market roads as early as possible.

The Council was urged to co-operate fully with the Mountain View Municipality with regard to a road leading from the highway into the town.

A by law was passed to license transient traders who wish to do business in town. The license fee was set at $10.00 per day or $25.00 per week.

The secretary was instructed to write to persons who were in receipt of direct relief last winter, pointing out that in view of the action taken by the Provincial Government, relief would be cut down to a minimum during the coming winter.

Carstairs Man Injured In Shotgun Accident

Shot through the right arm when a loaded shotgun in the back of a car was discharged when he accidentally touched the trigger, Jim McCoy, 24, of Carstairs, was rushed to a Calgary hospital last Friday. The accident occurred Friday morning 16 miles east of Carstairs.

Dr. A. Lerner, Carstairs, and Dr. Charles Bouck, Calgary, attended the youth. Hope was held of saving the arm in which the muscles near the shoulder were badly torn, but later developments made amputation necessary. McCoy's condition was reported as critical.

No Election in 1939: Aberhart.

Premier William Aberhart told people attending the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute meeting on Sunday that "we have no intention of conducting a provincial election this year."

An election, he said, would add unnecessary confusion in view of the war situation. The present Alberta Social Credit Government came into power on August 22, 1935.

Good Hunting Reported

With the opening of the season for shooting ducks last Friday quite a few of the local nimrods went out and they report that the birds are more plentiful this year.

Burns lake east of town seems to be the favorite hunting ground and several hunters came home with their limit.

Ed Watkin and Ken McCoy reported 34 birds; Alf Studer, Russell Ady and Len Berscht each came in with the limit while Mr. and Mrs. Jim Caithness reported a good bag.

There were two casualties as two of the hunters fell into the lake.

Olds Elks Fully Signed Up.

Coach Frank Coulson of the Olds Elks completed his roster for the season last week when he signed Marsh Darling, starry graduate from E.A.C. Juniors. Three other players from last season's crack E.A.C. Juniors, Bud Foley, Mel Lundie and Bob David, are also signed with the Elks.

Coulson announces that his club will assemble in Calgary to start training on November 1st on the artificial ice there. The oldest member of the club is 23 years and the rest are around 21. Average weight of the team will be 160 pounds.

With parliament indicating that Canada's part in the War would not immediately dislocate civilian life, prospects for the Alberta Senior Hockey League functioning again are much brighter at present.

And with our team all signed and ready to go, we think of the forgotten man of the moment, Eddie O'Keefe who stepped in half way through last season and coached the Elks to the playoffs after most local fans had given up hope. In a talk with O'Keefe a few weeks ago he stated emphatically he would not play with Olds under the present set-up, whether given the chance or not. Our guess is he'll line up with either Edmonton or Drumheller. And don't be surprised if he's signed as playing coach. Olds tries to.

Reed to Face Supreme Court On Major Count

Charged with manslaughter in connection with the deaths of two Calgary men near High River on May 11, Wesley Reed, 24, of Calgary, was remanded for trial from the preliminary hearing in city police court on Saturday morning.

Replying to a plea for dismissal of both manslaughter charges against Reed by his counsel, W. B. Cromarty, on grounds that evidence was not sufficient to warrant conviction in a higher court, Magistrate D. C. Sinclair remarked:

"It is not the function of this court to weigh evidence or to decide what credibility should be given to the evidence of the witnesses; but merely to decide if the evidence is sufficient to place the accused on his trial. A jury may find him guilty of a lesser offence. I find that the evidence is such that a trial tribunal might find the accused guilty of an indictable offence."

Board of Trade Supper Meeting

The newly-organized Board of Trade will hold their first supper meeting in the Knox Church basement tonight (Thursday) at 7.

After supper Mr. Frank Williams, of Calgary, will show several reels of colored moving pictures of his travels.

Matters relating to the benefit of the town and district will also be discussed.

Splendid Yield of Garnet Wheat

A splendid yield of wheat was reported by Henry Folkmann, who farms south-west of town.

He has just finished hauling his crop of Garnet wheat grown on 80 acres. The amount delivered to the U.G.G. elevator was 3,360 bushels, which shows a yield of 42 bushels to the acre.

Restrict Tourists from Taking Much Cash.

According to notice issued by the Foreign Exchange Board "travellers may take out of and bring back to Canada, their automobile, personal effects and in addition money not in excess of $100 in any one month without license."

No person may transfer any Canadian dollars to a non-resident in excess of $100 in any one month without first obtaining a permit.

Gifts to the value not exceeding $25 may be sent by any person by mail or parcel post to other countries in any calendar month without license.

Anyone breaking the law as established by the Foreign Exchange Control Order will be subject to heavy penalties.

New Chairman, Utilities Commission.

Mr. M. Blackstock, K.C., of Medicine Hat, has been appointed chairman of the Alberta Public Utilities Commission, effective October 16, it was announced Friday by Premier Aberhart.

Mr. Blackstock will succeed A. A. Carpenter, chairman of the board for the past 16 years and member of the board for the past 24 years. He is retiring on superannuation. Tribute to the work done by Mr. Carpenter was voiced by Premier Aberhart.

Knox United Church Notes

The minister will speak this coming Sunday on "Maintaining Christian Ideals in a World at War." You will be made heartily welcome at our services.

The Church School will observe Rally Day at 11 a.m. on Sunday. Parents and others are invited to attend. A special program has been arranged.

Democratic Citizenship

It is the sacred duty and should be the pleasure of the voter to vote. The foregoing is probably not a new statement. It has undoubtedly been said before, perhaps not in these exact words, but with the same meaning. But in the light of history, and comparatively recent history at that, it seems necessary to repeat the admonition contained in the opening affirmation from time to time "lest we forget."

And forgetfulness is one of the excuses of a percentage of those who omit to cast their ballot on election day. It is an alibi sometimes used, whether it be a federal, provincial or municipal election. In these days, however, when so much publicity is given to elections in the daily and weekly press and over the air, it can hardly be classed as an excusable excuse. Rather, it should be labelled a "thin" one.

As a matter of fact, of all the weak excuses offered for neglect to exercise the franchise, forgetfulness is one of the weakest. Even for those who value their democratic privileges very lightly it is a poor reason.

While forgetfulness is a weak excuse for not voting, the "What is the use?" attitude is one of the most futile and indefensible, yet that alibi is probably a great deal more popular than "I forgot."

It is futile and indefensible because, often enough, if those who use it were to go to the polls and express their choice, they would be sufficient to turn the tide in the direction of their own desires.

A Serious Disservice

Those who refrain from voting on this ground are doing themselves, their community and the elected representatives and defeated candidates a disservice.

Their breach of duty towards themselves lies in the fact that they are depriving themselves of a function which they ought to perform in justice to themselves. They are taking away from themselves all right to complain if the elected representatives do not conduct themselves in the manner in which the negligent voters would have them comport themselves, if they do not fulfil the promises which they have made, or if they do not carry out the policies and principles which these inactive voters would like to have them adopt.

They are rendering a disservice to all the other electors in the electoral district in which they are qualified to exercise the franchise, because they neither lend support to the majority nor give full weight to a minority voice. To the extent to which they refrain from casting their ballots they are stultifying the viewpoint of the entire community.

As for the elected representative and the defeated candidates, they have a right to complain of unfair treatment if the voters do not turn out and register their views at the polls 100 per cent. How can an elected representative carry out the wishes of the majority of his constituents, if he is elected by a minority of them? And that is what happens sometimes in a closely contested election when a number of the voters remain home on election day. He does not know their views, or at the best, can only guess them.

And the defeated candidate also has good ground for a complaint. He might have been elected had it not been for the negligence of some of the citizens.

A Serious Defection

The need for the reminder is evident when it is pointed out that in the federal general elections of 1935 only 242,736 votes were polled in Saskatchewan, or only 54 per cent. of those entitled to exercise the franchise on that occasion. This means that nearly one half of the eligible voters in that province played no part in sending representatives to the House of Commons in that election.

A better showing was made by the Saskatchewan electorate in the provincial elections of 1938 when slightly less than 80 per cent. of the eligible vote was polled. Even that, however, is not a good showing when a little over one fifth of the voters failed to record their views on provincial administration.

Doubtless if the figures were at hand, comparable results could be shown in the other prairie provinces.

The question arises what is to be done to arouse citizens of the country to the importance and necessity of taking a greater interest in the management of their own affairs. Compulsory voting, with penalties for failure to exercise the franchise, has been tried and is in effect in some countries, but it is not regarded as an unqualified success.

In any event it should not be necessary to compel people to look after their own affairs and their own interests and especially in such important matters as government.

The basic principle of democracy is self-government by an enlightened and interested citizenry. This fundamental is badly shaken and the form of government for which our ancestors fought over a thousand year period is seriously imperilled if a substantial section of the citizen body fails to avail itself of its privileges.

Woman Budgets Millions

But Has To Get Best Things At The Lowest Prices

The busiest housewife in England is Mrs. Monica Felton, who has just been appointed chairman of the London county council supplies committee.

Mrs. Felton has $25,000,000 to spend every year, but she must spend it wisely and well, getting the best things at the lowest prices.

Her purchases will range from toys to building equipment, from bandages to X-ray apparatus.

The buying of food is one of the most important aspects of the committee's work. L.C.C.'s food bill last year was in the neighborhood of $7,500,000.

"Flying Bishop" Enthusiastic About Only One In Arctic

Rt. Rev. A. L. Fleming, bishop of the Arctic, back from Aklavik, described at Toronto the work of the modern hospital and surgery being carried on by the Church of England in Canada at Aklavik well within the Arctic Circle.

The "Flying Bishop" as he is called by natives was particularly enthusiastic about the recently-installed dental surgery—only one in the Arctic, and the most northerly cathedral in the world.

"The natives have trouble with their teeth when they commence eating white man's food," Bishop Fleming said. "We are trying hard to educate them to come and have their teeth looked at periodically."

Bishop Fleming said the X-ray machine was a great benefit to the northern workers. He mentioned a husky Indian trapper who was found to have two pieces of shrapnel in his leg. The X-ray located them and they were removed by an operation.

Built Up Reputation

Magician Who Performed For King Edward VII. Is Dead

Horace Goldin, 65, a magician who claimed to have invented a method of camouflage that would make soldiers invisible, died recently at his home in London. Son of a Polish emigrant to the United States, Goldin worked for several years in country fairs. Later he built up a wide reputation in Britain as a conjurer. He staged command performances at Sandringham, Norfolk, for the late King Edward VII.

Disposal Of Straw

Is Matter Of Considerable Importance To Prairie Farmers

Utilization of straw on farms in the prairie provinces is of considerable importance.

A bulletin issued by the college of agriculture, University of Saskatchewan, states that in normal years only a relatively small part of straw can be fed to livestock or used for bedding. Straw on many farms is considered as a waste and is disposed of by burning. With the advent of the combine, the practice of burning the stubble has become widespread. Plowing under large quantities of straw tends to dry out the soil with resultant lower yields, but with moderate applications, it may be possible to conserve this valuable source of humus.

From the viewpoint of permanent agriculture, the burning of stubble and straw is very wasteful, the bulletin reveals. Large quantities of organic material are destroyed and, where straw piles are burned, the accumulation of ash in one location results in an area of excessively vigorous crop which matures much later than the remainder of the field.

International Acclaim

Royal Medal Presented To Firestone For Farm Tire

International acclaim came to the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company recently when a cablegram notified it of receipt of the top and only tire award presented at the Royal Centenary Show by the Royal Agricultural Society of England, of which His Majesty the King is president.

The winner of this recognition for distinctive contribution to agricultural progress was the Firestone Spade Grip Tractor Tire, developed by The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. It was designed originally for operation in the cane and rice fields to give maximum traction in deep mud, muck, wet and boggy soils. Its deep, rugged, widely spaced non-skid tread bars dig in and grip, providing a new degree of traction efficiency under the most adverse conditions. It was this scientific design and the strong, self-cleaning construction of the tire that merited the highest award a farm tire ever has received. The cable notifying Firestone of its new honor reads:

"Following exhaustive tests under extreme conditions, the Royal Agricultural Society of England, of which His Majesty the King is president, awarded to Firestone to-day at the Royal Centenary Show, Windsor Grand Park, the silver medal for Spade Grip Tractor Tires. Silver medals awards are the top and only awards for new improvements of outstanding benefit to farmers. There was no other tire award."

Snow Cruiser Will Serve As A Mobile Camp For South Pole Expedition

At the South Pole there is no traffic but travellers are likely to be hampered by blizzards, deep crevasses, mountains of ice and lack of roads. On display at the Armour Institute of Technology in Chicago recently, says the Pathfinder, was a model of the versatile vehicle which will overcome these handicaps for the forthcoming United States Antarctic Service (Byrd) expedition.

When they reach Antarctica next fall, members of the expedition will be able to travel comfortably in a snow cruiser with accommodations for four men. Designer of the cruiser is Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, scientific director of the Armour Institute's research foundation. Dissatisfied with the performance of tractors in Antarctica, he began to think about a new polar conveyance when he was second in command of the 1933 Byrd expedition.

When actually built, Dr. Poulter's cruiser will have cost $150,000. It will weigh 22½ tons, about 16 tons more than an ordinary 30 passenger bus. Its two Diesel motors, driving two pairs of wheels 10 feet in diameter, will generate 400 horsepower; a single motor will be enough to push it at speeds up to 25 miles an hour.

Measuring 55 feet from front to back, the cruiser will serve as a mobile camp. Within its moderately streamlined body will be an engine room, a control room, a complete machine shop, a combination kitchen and photographic dark room, a store room and living quarters. On its back it will carry a four-passenger plane for making exploratory flights over the wide Antarctic wastes.

In action, the cruiser will be nearly as agile as an animal. Power can be applied separately to each of its four wheels; both pairs of wheels can be turned. Thus, the cruiser can turn sharply around obstacles or travel sidewise like a crab.

Using two tables, Dr. Poulter demonstrated how the snow ship will act when it comes to a crevasse. Its nose projects far enough forward to bridge chasms 15 feet wide, while its rear wheels push and its front wheels dangle in midair; it can slide forward on its nose until its front wheels have been brought across the crevasse to safety, then proceed on its way.

Chief function of the cruiser will be to accommodate four scientists observing Antarctic geography, weather and vegetation. Fully equipped, the ship can carry a year's provisions and enough fuel to drive it 5,000 miles. Dr. Poulter expects that it will leave its tracks on the South Pole twice during the expedition's first year.

Would Make Things Easier

If Communities Knew Who Among Them Are Destined For Fame

If the people could know a few decades ahead of time who the persons abiding amongst them are that are destined to become famous, what a lot of biographical labor would later be saved. It is known that Lenin, the Bolshevik messiah and the dictator of Russia after the Bolshevik revolution, lived in London some 36 years ago, but there has been no end of difficulty in ascertaining where his home was situated, and the Communists, who desired to have the London County Council place a plaque on the house, were informed by the Paris Committee that there was no evidence that Lenin ever lived in the house where rumor placed him. The matter has now been settled, since it is learned that the head of the Russian Trade Organization in London photographed the house for the records of the Museum of the Revolution, so, no doubt, a plaque will be placed on it, and the Bolsheviks henceforth will be able to live in a state of sweet contentment, unless it should some day be torn down. But London is much more conservative in the matter of destroying and rebuilding than New York, so it is likely to remain for a long time. The Argonaut.

Early Romans used painting in fresco, mosaic painting, and marble incrustation for executing mural decorations.

Long Journey Ended

Boy Hitch-Hiked Across Canada To Visit Brothers In B.C.

A year's trip between Newcastle, England, and this Vancouver Island town, in which he hitch-hiked nearly 2,000 miles across Canada, was ended for 18-year-old Snowdon "Bob" Conlon when he walked in to visit his three younger brothers at the Fairbridge Farm school near Duncan, B.C.

Peter, 13; Pat, 11, and Paul, 10, three of a family of seven whose mother had to support them on a dole of 29 shillings ($7.25) a week, were pleasantly surprised to see the brother whom they left three years ago when they came to the farm school from England.

Bob was farmed out to the Fairbridge Foundation for training on a farm near Henley-on-Thames four years ago, and a little more than a year ago was sent to an Ontario farm.

He worked there for 15 months, then decided to visit his brothers and see if he could get work on a farm in British Columbia.

Bob likes farming "a lot better than being cooped up in a stuffy office." Before being placed under the Fairbridge Foundation he had worked as an office boy in a Newcastle-on-Tyne shipping office.

Two Stories About Mysterious Blue Flower On Hebridean Island

Jacobites may not altogether approve of the action of the party of London scientists who are attempting to discover the exact nature of the mysterious blue flower which has been growing in profusion on the remote Hebridean island of Eriskay ever since Bonnie Prince Charlie landed there in 1745.

There are two traditional tales to account for the flower's presence. One says that it was sown personally by Prince Charlie to celebrate his arrival on Scottish soil. The other has it that the seeds from which the plant has sprung came ashore on pieces of driftwood from the French ship Douteille and took root without assistance.

Whatever the source or origin, "Charlie's Flower," as it is known locally, is definitely a "foreigner" to Hebridean soil and has so far resolutely refused to root elsewhere in spite of careful transplanting. In fact, so attached is it to the Prince's landing-spot on Eriskay that ill-luck is traditionally believed to attend anyone who is foolish enough to remove a portion. Manchester Guardian.

Authority On Farm Problems

Dr. J. H. Grisdale Dies At His Home In Ontario

Dr. J. H. Grisdale, former deputy minister of agriculture, died recently at Iroquois, Ont. He had operated a farm there since his retirement in 1932.

Born at Ste. Marthe, Que., Dr. Grisdale was 69 years old. He was educated at Vankeek Academy, Albert College, Belleville, Ontario Agricultural College, the University of Toronto and Iowa State College of Agriculture.

After teaching for some years he entered the Dominion government service and was an agriculturalist at the central experimental farm, Ottawa, from 1899 to 1911 when he became director of the farm. In 1919 he was appointed deputy minister and held that post until his retirement in 1932.

Dr. Grisdale was known as an outstanding authority on farm problems and agricultural markets. Since his retirement he has from time to time been called upon by the government to advise on marketing problems and made trips to Britain and to South America to investigate marketing possibilities.

Bearings In Streamlined Trains Make Them Start Smoothly

The workaday world is bombarded on all sides this vacation season with publicity about the romance of riding new streamlined trains. How fast they go. How quiet. How light compared to the old timers. What great engineering triumphs they represent. How economical, and air conditioned.

But when the conductor signals all aboard and you have to look around twice to see whether it's your train, the one next to it, or the station that's moving, then it's time to wonder why it's no longer necessary for the engine driver to jerk his train two, three or five times to overcome or break loose the friction.

The secret is found in new Timken roller bearings, tapered to require about 88 per cent. less "omph" at the start. That means the engine driver can roll his train away and not jerk it. The first roller bearing locomotive, built in 1930, was lent to several railroads for trial. The bearings reduced resistance in idling wheels 12 per cent. or more, and in driving wheels from 12 per cent. to 50. Crowds gaped recently as three children were able to pull one of the huge iron horses unassisted.—Christian Science Monitor.

Royal Pictures Received

Nascope Took Autographed Photos Of Their Majesties To Craig Harbor

Pictures of King George and Queen Elizabeth now hang in the post office at Craig Harbor, Ellesmere Island, the most northerly post office in the world, some 600 miles from the North Pole. The photographs were autographed by Their Majesties when in Ottawa last May on the Canadian tour.

Major D. L. McKeand, commander of the eastern Arctic patrol, appealed to government house in Ottawa to have the King and Queen autograph photographs while staying there to be carried to this northern post where two Mounted Police constables keep watch throughout the year that Canada's sovereignty of Ellesmere Island may be assured. Their Majesties readily consented.

On August 22, the ice-breaker Nascope, carrying the eastern Arctic patrol reached the harbor and found it filled with grounded bergs and pack ice. Mounted Police stationed at Craig Harbor reached the ship on skis across the pack ice and Major McKeand gave them the photographs.

Supreme Court Building

Will Be One Of Which Canada May Be Proud

Canada's Supreme Court, the cornerstone of which was laid at Ottawa in May by Queen Elizabeth, will be housed in a structure which, with its equipment and surroundings, will cost $3,360,000. The building itself will cost $2,500,000. In reviewing the fine points of the new edifice, Canadian Business (Montreal) says this hardly keeps pace with the Washington Joneses but, in any case, the seven men who interpret this country's laws will sit in a building of which any nation might be proud. The contract calls for its completion next spring but it may be finished early in the new year.

On the ground floor will be located the Exchequer Court, and on the first floor up the Supreme Court room and offices for the staff. While the outside approaches to the building will be imposing, even more impressive will be the first floor and the approaches to it. From the Main Hall on the ground floor, the monumental staircase leads from a first landing to corridors where the public offices of the Supreme Court are located. The Supreme Court room itself will measure 40 feet by 55 feet and will be lighted by six high windows. On the second floor will be the offices of the Justices and a conference room. Adjoining this conference room will be a reception room for the Chief Justice.

If present plans work out it is possible that a reorganized court may be the first to occupy the handsome new home. Sir Lyman Duff has had his term extended by three years so that the Government may have his help in re-organizing the judiciary, that is, its personnel. Some of those now occupying the highest Bench are fast reaching the retiring age, while one or two of them are prevented by conditions of health from performing the services they would like to give. — St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Would Double Air Service

But Personnel Not Yet Available States Minister Of Transport

Daily air mail and passenger services between Montreal and Vancouver, which have operated steadily since April 1 last would be duplicated at once if sufficient personnel were available. Hon. C. D. Howe, transport minister, said at Ottawa.

The planes which make daily flights each way between the two points are carrying capacity loads and a duplicate service will be inaugurated as soon as pilots are available.

Training at the Trans-Canada Airways school in Winnipeg is being stepped up and the necessary personnel will be available shortly, the minister said.

Extensions to the TCA service are being arranged to provide international schedules between Toronto and Buffalo and Toronto and Detroit.

Was Undisputed Ruler Of Dutch Freighter For Eight Hours

Terrorized by a full-grown lion which broke out of his cage and stalked the deck, nine passengers and 30 seamen aboard the Dutch freighter Amazone barricaded themselves for more than eight hours until marine corp and coast guard riflemen from Cape May shot the animal.

With the lion in undisputed command of the forward deck and a cargo which included dynamite and more beasts below, the Amazone raced 80 miles to a point within six miles of the cape, where First Sergeant Michael Peskan of the marine corps rifle range and seven coast guards led by Chief Boatswain's Mate John Williams met the freighter and killed the lion.

The World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Director "Crop Testing Plan"

The "Crop Testing Plan" has just concluded the analysis of 24,000 wheat samples, each one of which represents a farmer's field of wheat. While a large number of excellent true-to-variety fields were found, yet on the other hand the tests revealed that thousands of farmers are losing money by producing crops which are made up of mixtures of unsuitable varieties. These poor varieties and mixtures not only lower the farmer's yields and grades, hence lose him money, but as well tend to lower the general quality of Canadian wheat. Farmers, therefore, who had "O's" and "Mixtures" in the "Crop Testing Plan" tests, or other farmers who may be in doubt about the quality of their crops, should certainly not continue to sow poor money-losing seed, but should now lay their plans to secure more suitable stock for next spring's sowing.

In almost every district there are professional seed growers with moderately priced Registered and Certified seed to sell. There are also in each district farmers who have in their bins true-to-variety "Crop Testing Plan A" stocks, which stocks can usually be purchased by neighboring farmers at a modest premium.

High quality wheat is a vital war necessity for Canada, Great Britain and their Allies.

Following factors have tended to raise prices: Dutch Government recently purchased 640,000 bushels of Manitoba wheat - Belgium reports an excellent demand for Argentine wheat - Argentine wheat crop too advanced and in danger of frost - Rice problem in Shanghai acute owing to hoarding and profiteering, price has risen 100% in 3 months.

Following factors have tended to lower prices: Bumper grain crops being harvested in Poland - Free Press crop report of September 7th estimates 451 million bushels of wheat for Canada - Argentine exportable wheat surplus approximately 100 million bushels greater than same time last year - Unified wheat purchasing control in France and Britain.

Wheat Boom May Result In Setback

That the British proved themselves astute wheat buyers in the last Great War and that the present speculative boom, which is increasing prices too rapidly, may result in a sudden setback with heavy losses, is predicted in a recent issue of The Budget, organ of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

The paper states that the United States' Secretary of Agriculture has warned farmers of that country not to expand their operations or acreage in prospect of increased overseas markets due to war. It is stated that much of Europe is cut off as an importing region due to the British blockade. It is believed that the German submarine campaign will also have an important bearing on British food import plans.

No Senseless Intolerance

War brings with it infamies and degradations, and our earnest prayer as a people must be that Canada's record will not be marred by senseless intolerance toward innocent people. Let there be no witch-hunting and persecution of any of us who bear non-Anglo-Saxon names. Let not the sin of one mad man be visited upon the children of German Canadians unto the third and fourth generation.

Some few people should be interdicted. Their records justify it because they could not be trusted to refrain from trying to do the work of the enemy in this country. The Government will attend to this, but it is to be assumed that the authorities will show moderation.

The German Canadians of Western Canada are, the vast majority of them, decent, peace-loving, law-abiding citizens of the land of their adoption. Let us show them by our example that a democratic people does not yield to race hatred.

We are in this war in defence of the principle that no nation, however small, shall be forced to yield to threats of aggression or the use of force. It would ill behoove us to mar our record by denying locally and individually the main principle for which we propose to fight.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Since the transfer of the Alberta natural resources from Dominion to Provincial control on October 1st, 1930, there has been a growing demand for the publication of a map of this province which would enumerate the various resources and give their locations. Such a map has now been prepared and is ready for distribution.

In complying with this general demand many factors have had to be taken into consideration. It was of importance that the information contained in a map of this nature should be of value to all classes of people. To the schools, within and without the province, for educational reasons; to miners, trappers, hunters and fishermen; to technical institutions for purposes of reference, and to tourists interested in the vast natural wealth of this province, who would unquestionably be attracted into making personal investigation when informed of the conveniences which now exist for making such investigation both easy and desirable.

The map, therefore, has been designed with a view to filling these many wants. It is 39½" by 22" in size and is on a scale of 20 miles to the inch. Distinctive features are shown in red, green, blue and black.

These features include surface areas, surface resources, mineral areas, mineral resources, airways, railways, surfaced and improved earth highways, irrigation canals, bird sanctuaries and Indian reserves. Game, fish and fur areas are shown and the location of the resources—coal, oil, natural gas, timber, salt, bituminous sands, water power, etc., are given.

In addition to this map, a half-yearly review in pamphlet form, covering the oil situation in Alberta up to June 30th, 1939, has also been published by the department. This too is ready for distribution, and either publication, or both, may be secured by applying to the Technical Division of the Department of Lands and Mines, Edmonton.

The Crash Club.

A gentleman with sardonic pen writes to announce the organization of a new club, the membership of which is both constantly shifting and growing.

Those who would belong to the Crash Club may qualify by: exceeding the speed limit, ignoring the right-of-way, driving on the wrong side of the road, driving recklessly, refusing to signal, and by cutting in and out of traffic.

The organization has no assets, but is strong on liabilities, which it lists as Killed and Injured. A number of the leading members are in hospitals and jails.

"The Oklahoma Kid."

"The Oklahoma Kid," stirring cavalcade of America's big westward march, starring James Cagney, will be featured at the Opera House this weekend. Also in the cast are Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane, Donald Crisp and Harvey Stephens.

The picture is laid in the wild and lawless days when the Indian Territory was being opened to settlement, but though the period and background are different from those of most of the Cagney pictures, Jimmy is essentially the same type of character as he has been in his biggest successes.

Auto Registrations May Set New Record.

A new record for Alberta automobile registrations was seen as the figures for the five months up to August 31 were issued by the provincial secretary's department Friday last. The total of 103,512 was composed of 84,828 passenger or pleasure cars and 18,684 motor trucks. It was only 2,108 behind the total for the full last fiscal year.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Sales of new motor vehicles in Canada in July amounted to 7,877 units valued at $8,487,187 compared with 8,254 at $9,202,691 in July, 1938.

Not more than 30 crop failure certificates will be necessary this year in Prince Albert judicial district, it is estimated. This compares with 325 issued in 1938.

A man who admitted tearing a tinted photograph of Adolf Hitler from a friend's wall was acquitted in city court at Indianapolis of a charge of malicious trespass.

A scheduled visit of the U.S.S. Annapolis which was to take eight officers, 90 cadets and 20 enlisted men to Halifax was cancelled with no reason given.

Judge T. D. Cumberland, 85, former judge of Manitoba's western judicial district, died recently. He was a resident of Brandon for many years.

Production of the aircraft industry in Canada in 1938 amounted in value to $6,927,105, a sharp increase compared with $1,730,724 the previous year, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported.

Arthur Asquith, 56, third son of the first Earl of Oxford and Asquith, is dead. In 1918 he became controller of the trench warfare department. Later he went into business and held numerous directorates.

Importations of Canada's agricultural products to the United Kingdom have increased more than 140 per cent. in the last 12 months, Frederick Hudd, chief Canadian trade commissioner in Great Britain, said in London.

New York Has Simple System To Trace Fire Calls

A woman gropes through smoke to the telephone, lifts the receiver and screams "Fire!" into the mouthpiece. If she behaves the way 50 per cent. of her sisters—and her brothers—behave in the same crisis she will then ask for fire headquarters. When the connection is made she will scream "My house is on fire!" and hang up.

No address is given, no vital information, continues the New York World-Telegram. She does not even say what borough she lives in. Fear has short-circuited her normal, rational mental processes, and the fire department has to solve the all-important mystery of the fire's location without her help.

Eighteen or twenty seconds after she screamed, two engine companies, two ladder trucks, and a battalion chief are rolling through the streets, headed directly for her home, the mystery solved.

How was it solved? By a system worked out by the unsung technicians of the Fire Alarm Telegraph Bureau and the New York Telephone Co.

Years ago, when the telephone first became a factor in daily life, the fire department alarm bureau went to the telephone company with the suggestion that all fire calls be immediately traced. Now it is nearly mechanical, a trained response to a situation that works like this:

The woman asks for or dials the fire department. In the central exchange the supervisor automatically plugs in and listens. If the location is given she loses interest. But if the woman fails to say where the fire is the supervisor at once checks the address of the telephone on which the call was made and telephones that information to the telegraph bureau of the fire department. In practice the whole manoeuvre takes less time than the telling.

Reasonable Request

The heads of a big manufacturing plant had this notice posted at the beginning of the summer season:

All requests for leave of absence on account of toothache, severe colds, and minor physical ailments, and on account of church picnics, weddings and funerals and the like, must be handed to the foreman in charge of your department before 10 a.m., on the morning of the game.

Canada, during 1937, produced 33 times as much standard newspaper as the United States, or 73.7 per cent. of the total North American production of 4,943,000 tons.

Have To Be Accurate

Newspapers Obligated To Be Careful About What They Print

A sampling of public opinion regarding newspapers, which Fortune Magazine reported, shows that a considerable number of people think that the news they get by radio is more accurate than the news they get in their papers.

Well, well! Where do the radio announcers get their more accurate news?

They get it from the newspapers or from the same sources from which the newspapers get their news.

And when Orson Welles turned his radio audience pale with a broadcast of an invasion from Mars, where was it but to newspaper offices that people telephoned for the truth?

The radio is a great instrument for public entertainment and enlightenment, when properly used, but the men and women who use it to-day are just as human and just as fallible, as are the men and women who get out newspapers.

And, what is more, they are not subject to that strict accountability for accuracy, which the printed record of what appears in a newspaper holds over the heads of those responsible for it.—Detroit Free Press.

Demands Being Met

Railways Have Speeded Up Freight Service To Satisfy Patrons

Back in 1920, says W. L. Clark, in the Windsor Star, when the railways took your freight and left you to wonder if you would get delivery this year or next, freight trains averaged 247 miles per day. For the first half of 1939 the freight trains have increased their average speed to 405 miles per day. With the patrons wanting faster delivery of freight, the railways have been trying to meet the demands. Faster trains and better accommodation in picking up and delivering loads has meant more satisfaction to people, who wondered why the railways took so long to try and regain some of the business they had lost to the motor trucks.

HOME SERVICE

SOON TIME TO PLANT COLORFUL GARDEN BULBS

Know Correct Planting Depth

Gay tulips nodding in the breeze, crocuses shyly peeping above the grass! These delights you will surely want in your garden next season, so remember that bulb-planting time comes in a few weeks.

Preparations for bulbs are simple. Best to have well-drained soil and if you use manure bury it deep so bulbs won't touch it, but roots will find it.

A good rule of thumb to follow in planting is to cover each bulb to a depth about three times its diameter.

For formal beds choose early tulips and hyacinths which you can lift after blooming and replace with other flowers. In a mixed border narcissi and Mayflowering tulips show up beautifully need not be lifted.

If you have a bit of lawn that needn't be cut often, plant snowdrops, crocuses, and daffodils in a charming scattered effect. By knowing a few pointers on their care, you can keep these and other bulbs blooming for years.

Instructions for bulbs, for complete gardens, too, are given in our 32-page booklet. A well-known horticulturist gives advice on soils, fertilizers, pests and diseases. Tells how to care for lawns, trees, shrubs, grow annuals, perennials, herbs, roses.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Plant and Care For Your Garden" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

The following booklets are also available at 15c each:

IDEAL FOR VACATION OR SCHOOL

By Anne Adams

Smart little girls like to be "in Dutch" this year, in gay imitation of the popular young screen star who inspired this delightful Dutch-girl dress, Pattern 4203. Anne Adams has given it quaint charm and a simple-to-sew style that the Sewing Instructor will make even easier. Isn't the short, flared skirt dashing? See its eight decorative gores and its button-trimmed belt! That wide white collar is refreshing and crisp, and the bodice closes with snappy big buttons all down the front. You might add extra style with a big floppy bow in a bright color, and cleverly shaped pockets. Make one frock in Dutch-blue checked cotton; another in dark wool.

Pattern 4203 is available in girls and junior sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 10 takes 3 yards 35 inch fabric and 1/4 yard contrast.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size Name, Address and Style Number and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

SELECTED RECIPES

FRUITED STUFFING

2 cups crushed Shredded Wheat
1/4 cup shortening or bacon dripping
1 1/2 tablespoons minced onion
1/2 cup shredded raw carrot
1/3 cup chopped raw celery
2 teaspoons salt
2/3 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
2/3 cup drained crushed canned pineapple
1/2 cup seedless raisins (optional)
1 tablespoon finely-minced parsley
1 beaten egg (optional)

Crush the Shredded Wheat finely. Make fat hot in frying pan; add onion, carrot and celery and cook until tender. Remove from heat and add salt, paprika, cloves, pineapple and raisins if used. Mix in parsley and if a closer textured stuffing is desired add the beaten egg. Fill lightly into cavity of meat to be roasted. This stuffing is especially suitable for pork, goose, veal or lamb.

BUTTERMILK BISCUITS

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
2/3 cup buttermilk or sour milk
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda, and salt, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Add milk all at once and stir carefully until all flour is dampened. Then stir vigorously until mixture forms a soft dough and follows spoon around bowl. Turn out on slightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll 1/2 inch thick, cut with floured 2-inch biscuit cutter, and place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 biscuits.

Has Two Meanings

Weather Forecast Is Explained By Meteorologist At New York

The Weather Man is going to break down and tell people what it's all about.

James Osmun, United States Government's meteorologist at New York, confessed he, and fellow forecasters have suspected all along their pronouncements were baffling many people—and they've concluded the fault lies with the meteorological terminology—words that mean one thing to the Weather Man and something else to the man on the street.

"For instance," he said, "we may predict: 'To-morrow: Fair and warmer,' and we'll be right, because the temperature will rise, but the average person will feel cooler because other factors change."

The layman's weather is made up of three elements, Osmun said—temperature, humidity and air motion—and these have to be interpreted in terms of the individual locality with the same set of conditions, statistically, you might feel warm in New York, but cold in Denver.

The researchers found the best day—when you feel cheerful and peppy and your mental and physical processes are at their best—is a warm day, not hot, with a high relative humidity and a light wind.

National Forestry Program Camps Help Canadian Youth

National Forestry Program camps are proving beneficial in Banff National Park, according to reports received by the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa. Three camps are established in the park, and in them are 110 young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five. Already they have built trails to scenic view points, erected a number of bridges, and carried out valuable fire precaution work, which includes the building of a road to permit fire-fighting equipment to enter into otherwise inaccessible territory. Other activities of the youths include assisting the park warden service in fire prevention patrols and in maintaining telephone lines.

Established primarily to provide training in forestry work for youths who otherwise would be unemployed, the keynote of the National Forestry Program camps is "learn by doing". The youths are trained, clothed, fed and housed, and are paid at the rate of one dollar per day, of which amount they are permitted to draw ten dollars per month for spending money while in camp.

Men Who Love Ships

Feel They Are Alive And Treat Them Like People

Men of the sea always affectionately refer to a ship as "she". To those who love ships, they are alive. They are made of dead lumber and steel, but once articulated into a whole, they take on personality and life.

At Antioch, Calif., lay the Hesperides, a three-master which had outlived her usefulness and was condemned to be burned as a menace.

On a recent night she broke her moorings, drifted up the San Joaquin river channel without a pilot, poked her tall masts into high-tension wires, caught fire and burned to the water line.

Suicide, the old men along the waterfront called it, no less. Nonsense, rejoined the landlubbers from our fireside chairs.

And yet—there is something about a ship—more than planks and plates. These are the very things we lump together and call coincidence.—New Glasgow News.

Plenty At Home

Californians are unable to understand why Frank Buck goes to some out-of-the-way place to "bring 'em back alive". During the past year 182 lions were killed in California 306 wildcats and coyotes trapped, and 219 other predatory wild animals lured to an untimely end.

Hindering Prosperity

News that Canada's exports to the United States during the last three months were double those for a similar period last year show how prosperity could easily come back on this continent were it not for the influence of turbulent Europe.

THE SENSE OF TASTE

Man tastes with his tongue while some animals, for example fishes, taste with the whole body. An infant tastes with the middle part of his tongue and an adult determines with the sides of his tongue whether food is pleasing or not.

Food is tasted by means of the taste buds of which the cow has about 15,000, the antelope 50,000 and man about 3,000. The whale has very few taste buds and gulps its food so quickly that it does not bother about the taste. Among horned cattle, taste is important, and they scrupulously select the grasses they like.

We know four distinct tastes: sweet, salty, bitter and sour. The sweet taste is perceived on the tongue the quickest, because the taste buds for sweets are located at the tip of the tongue; then comes salty and sour taste. Bitter things are tasted at the back of the tongue.

Taste can be regulated. Warm coffee requires less sugar than cold, because warmth is a stimulant to the taste buds. No matter how much sugar is added to ice cream it will not seem too sweet, because when cooled the taste buds scarcely function. If the tongue is rubbed with ice, one fails to perceive different tastes, a good method in taking bitter drugs. Taste is a fine sense. It can be trained. Tea tasters are able to tell the place of origin of a tea after a single tasting. Wine tasters can tell from where a certain variety of wine came and also whether the grapes from which it was made grew in a sunny or a shady field.

Backs Woman Expert

Chicago Grain Authority Is Upheld By Canada's Corn Hind

The woman who won international respect as an authority on Canadian agriculture and live stock, Miss E. Cora Hind, of the Winnipeg Free Press, expressed the hope that Mrs. Ellen Hennington Miller, of Chicago, would win her statistical feud with United States masculine experts.

Mrs. Miller, the only woman grain authority in the United States, this summer has carried on a friendly dispute with five other Chicago crop experts regarding the probable size of the United States winter wheat crop. But it appeared to-day the issue has ended in a draw. Mrs. Miller estimates the crop at 501,132,000 bushels. Government experts at 550,710,000 bushels, and only Governmental revisions will be issued from now on.

Miss Hind, now agricultural editor of the Free Press, has established a world-wide reputation for accuracy in 30 years of crop estimating for the newspaper. She expressed her sympathies with Mrs. Miller for "five or more to one always inclines me to back the one who stands steady against long odds."

Mrs. Miller, curly-haired mother of a six-year-old son, and known throughout the grain industry as "E. H. Miller", has not budged from the position she took early in the year that the winter wheat crop would be "around 500,000,000."

Grammar Was Correct

Judge N. J. Bonell's grammar was all right when he said Him would have to serve 90 days in jail. Him is Yee Yuen Him, a dishwasher in Chicago. Him's (that's correct, too) employer, Benjamin Joe, charged Him with wrongfully buying liquor and charging it to the restaurant where Him worked.

"We want a word with you, alone," said McQueen.

"Noel, here, is my partner," replied Alan. "We have no secrets from each other."

"But you sometimes have a secret together, eh?" broke in Slade.

Alan gazed blankly into Slade's leering eyes. Police or no, he didn't like the cut of the jibs of these two men. "Secret together, what do you mean?" he asked.

"Well, my lad, I'm kind of curious to know what a hunter just out of the bush is doing with a piece of Canadian paper money," said McQueen. "I suppose you got it from a bear."

To the horror of the watching Noel, Alan calmly produced his pouch from a pocket and drew out the bill. "You mean this?"

Cameron's cool audacity took McQueen and Slade by surprise. The former hesitated, swallowed, then demanded excitedly: "Where up river did you get that money? Who gave it to you?"

Alan yawned, then calmly surveyed the exasperated McQueen from head to foot. "When you show me what business it is of yours, I may tell you."

McQueen's pale eyes flamed with anger. "We're Provincial Police! Didn't you know that? You'd better keep a civil tongue in your head, young man!"

"Why didn't you tell me who you were?" countered Alan, revelling in the discomfiture of the thick-set officer. "Rivard didn't say a thing about it when I met you, and neither did you! I suppose you've got something to prove it?"

McQueen threw open his outer and inner coats, displaying a badge of German silver on his heavy shirt. "That satisfy you? I'm a sergeant of Provincial Police, Province of Quebec. I thought they'd told you. Slade here, is a corporal."

"I haven't seen Gabriel since I got in and Rivard said nothing about you being police," avoided Alan, truthfully. He realized the danger of further antagonizing his callers. They had wide powers in the hinterlands when in pursuit of wanted men. They might even force him to accompany them to the headwaters. But remorse over his carelessness flicked him as a whip flics a harness-sore dog.

"I got that money from Neil Campbell, at Whale River, two years ago."

With a shrug and a smile of impotency McQueen turned to Slade. "Guess we'd better let these boys get some sleep," he said good-naturedly. "They're tired and cross, need plenty of rest and grub, then we'll have a talk with them."

"You'll have plenty of time to talk," said Alan, winking at the stiff-faced Noel. "After the ice from the upper river passes, the river will run high with snow water for weeks. You'll have plenty of time."

"Well, good-night, boys, no hard feelings! See you later!"

Alan stood motionless in the doorway until the two callers disappeared in the gloom, then closed the door and turned to Noel.

"I've got to see Neil Campbell before anyone else from Fort George reaches him. As soon as the ice clears the coast we head for Whale River."

CHAPTER IV.

The vanguards of the marching spring had reached Fort George and swept on up the East Coast of the great salt bay of the north.

It was late in May and two men waited while the lifting sun and the rain winds from the foot of James Bay warred with the floe-ice that blocked the bleak East Coast. Not yet might a canoe hope to pass the treacherous Cape of the Four Winds and reach Whale River.

And while the anxious Alan fretted to be off, Officers McQueen and Slade made repeated attempts to entangle him in the details of the story of how he happened to have Canadian money in his possession.

It had been bitter news to Alan when Gabriel Dessane told him the details of the mission of the police.

"Alan, I don't blame you for bungling a little stuff before you knew who they were," said Gabriel, "but the law requires that we give the police any help possible. Their papers order us to furnish guides, supplies, whatever they require. They're after a man who went in to Nichicum by way of Rupert House, last summer—a man charged with murder."

Murder! John McCord with the straight gazing eyes and the big heart—a murderer!

"His Indians came out at East Main in December deserted him," continued Dessane. He had hired them to go in with him to trade for fur. They came out to get dogs and supplies but he wanted them to go into the interior, this summer, and they were afraid to go. What was his plan—to lose himself in the interior. That was why the police were suspicious when you dropped that bill you got from Neil Campbell, the stunned Alan heard Dessane say, as if from a distance. "They know there's no money used in the back country and they suspected you might have run into him."

Alan's level eyes met the friendly gaze of the factor as he replied: "Yes, I understand. But I don't go up river with these police. I've got to get some good dogs from the Huskies. That will take me weeks."

"Well, I'll tell Sergeant McQueen that you must get your dogs from the Eskimos first, if he insists on taking you to the headwaters instead of some of our Indians."

But while the laggard spring touched the East Coast slowly with its magic, to Alan who chafed at the delay, harassed by his problem, there was one great consolation in his enforced idleness. Berthe, far away, indeed, seemed the man and the girl on the Talking River, when he sat with the small Manon on his knees while he watched the busy fingers of her sister at her sewing. But equally, far seemed the day when Alan Cameron, humble trapper of fur, could take this black-eyed girl in his arms and tell her his love.

So the days passed while Alan and Noel made frequent trips to the mouth of the river to watch the condition of the floe-ice along the coast. Then, one day, they learned from Andrew Christie, Hudson's Bay factor, that McQueen had hired a York boat. That meant that the police were going to try to slip up the coast to Whale River to check his story.

"But father says the coast is not clear!"

"Noel," said Alan, as the two sat in Alan's cabin, "ice or no ice, we leave for Whale River tonight! We must beat McQueen to Neil Campbell or they will know we met John McCord and compel us to take them to the headwaters."

"You think Neil will tell them he gave you the money?"

"He'd die for me, Noel. I pulled him out of the river here when he was clerk at the Hudson's Bay."

Early that evening Alan walked with Berthe along the high shore of the river near the Revillon Freres post. He would not see her again in weeks for his quest for dogs would take him far north of the Whale.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 35 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells. Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Luxury Streamlined Trains More Expensive Than People Imagine

Apart from the horror of the killed and injured in the wreck of the Southern Pacific's crack streamliner in Nevada, there is brought home the fact that a luxury train costs from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

That huge amount, says W. L. Clark in the Windsor Star, is for one single train not for a fleet of trains. It means that a huge chunk of capital is required before such a train can be placed in service. It also reveals some of the problems the railways have to face in meeting the demands of traffic and service.

It has often been suggested that the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways should put fast luxury trains in service between Toronto and Montreal.

No doubt the Canadian railwaymen would like to put luxury streamliners on more than one run in Canada. But, at $2,000,000 per train, the thought is hard to change from a wish to a fact.

Another Use For Radio

Experimenting with short radio waves, states Capper's Weekly, Charles Milliken, a student in the California Institute of Technology, showed his amazed professors and fellow students how to pop corn inside a paper bag without igniting the bag. There seems to be no end to what radio waves can be made to do.

Fragments of the shell of a 40,000,000-year-old turtle from England have been fitted together at the Field Museum in Chicago.

DEEP-ROOTED IN FRIENDLY SOIL!

A great tree gains its stature, builds its strength and bears its fruit through years of growth in friendly ground. So do the enterprises of man.

Like the great tree, the co-operative ideal has taken deep root in Alberta soil and is growing stronger each year.

Alberta Pool Elevators has risen to a position of predominance because of its adherence to the co-operative ideology, its alertness and energy in advancing farm interests, and its open policy of doing business.

The co-operative way of grain marketing is the correct way, the system is essentially sound and it should be extended and strengthened.

Farmers can gain power, prestige and added security only by developing their own co-operative businesses.

Alberta Pool Elevators is a purely Alberta Farmer-owned co-operative.

Canada Will Send Expeditionary Force

Hon. Ian McKenzie in his last announcement as minister of defence stated on Tuesday that a Canadian expeditionary force will be organized to go overseas when it is required.

It is stated that an army division of 20,000 men will be organized at once, and men who have enlisted in the active service force will be asked to volunteer in the expeditionary force.

Already, of course, provisions have been made for home defence forces and speeding up the supply of food and munitions.
